On Our Way To Being Counted!

Adults at Home: Today we learned about different kinds of transportation that people use to get to work and school. We also learned that the Census Bureau counts how many people use different kinds of transportation to get to work. In 2020, the Census Bureau will count all the people in the country. The 2020 Census will help us understand which communities need more roads, bridges, and parks. So it's important that everyone is counted!

Let your child color in the pictures below. While they color, help them count the number of people in each kind of transportation.
